

Thank you for the opportunity to address this group. There seems to be some concern that there is the possibility that a monopoly could form in the media that could give an unfair advantage to a particular group, or allow a smaller group of people to control what information is distributed to the general public. Is this a reasonable concern? Thanks for your time.